The Africa’s Leading Technology firm, the Seamless HR has appointed Bryan Kariuki as Regional Vice President for Eastern Region.

Kariuki, an accomplished ex-McKinsey executive passionate about leveraging technology to solve real world problems and is highly regarded as a mobilizer and collaborator, Kariuki was honored as one of Kenya’s Top 25 Men under 40 (2016).

Kariuki brings more than 15 years of experience driving growth for technology companies throughout Africa. He holds an MBA from INSEAD Business School.

He has joined Seamless HR’s Regional C-Suite to lead operations and expansion in Eastern Africa while based in the company’s offices in Nairobi.

Joining Seamless HR from Cellulant where as Vice President he has helped expand the fintech company’s payment platform and solutions across 16 African countries. Before that, he held leadership roles at Copia Global, Jumia, Travelstart, and other leading technology firms operating in Africa.

Commenting on his appointment, the CEO and co-founder of the Seamless Dr. Emmanuel Okeleji lauded Kariuki’s track record describing him “as an ideal leader.”

“His proven track record of successfully, launching and expanding ventures makes him the ideal leader to drive our next phase of growth in the region,” he noted.

Kariuki has launched, grown successful startups and established new business verticals and units within larger corporations. He possesses deep knowledge of the African tech ecosystem and regulatory environment.