

President Paul Kagame this Thursday arrived in Dar-es-Salaam, Tanzania where he was received by President John Pombe Magufuli for a one-day Visit.

During his visit, President Kagame will hold a tête-à-tête meeting with his counterpart President Magufuli. The visit is an opportunity for the two leaders to discuss issues pertaining to bilateral relations between the two countries as well as regional integration.

The two Heads of State are expected to address the press following their talks. The day will end with a dinner hosted by President Magufuli in honor of President Kagame.

President Kagame was last in Tanzania in January 2018 for a working visit while President Magufuli visited Rwanda in April 2016.
