

President Paul Kagame on Monday received at his office the outgoing U.S. Ambassador to Rwanda, Peter Vrooman, who has reached the end of his tenure.

“This afternoon at Urugwiro Village, President Kagame received outgoing US Ambassador to Rwanda, Ambassador Peter Vrooman, for a farewell meeting”, said the state house via tweeter.

Ambassador Peter Vrooman concludes his tour of duty after representing his country in Rwanda for three years and eight months. He presented his credentials to the Rwandan President Paul Kagame on April 6th, 2018.